The Weather.

FOR KENTUCKY—Unsettled with probably local rains Thursday.

In today's paper will be found the full text of the speech made by the editor of the Kentuckian at the Powell banquet in Louisville last week. It is published not in any spirit of egotism, but upon the idea that the readers of the Kentuckian are entitled to the best in its editor's shop.

In the New York senatorial election Sheehan is still 13 votes short of election with 29 Democrats refusing to vote for him. He is getting 86 votes to 81 for Depew, the Republican nominee. The sixth ballot was taken yesterday with but little change.

Mayor Lambert, of Owensboro, led another raid on a gambling house the other night but made "a water haul." He is in earnest, but seems to need a force that will go without the mayor.

A couple who met in a snowbound railroad station in Montana last week fell desperately in love and were married in short order. They are still thanking the weather clerk for the dear old blizzard.

Luke Lea, the new Senator from Tennessee, is the youngest man elected to the Senate since the days of Henry Clay. He will not be 32 until some time next month.

Louisville is to go after the National Democratic Convention of 1912 and the movement is meeting with much favor among the politicians.

Behind The Bars.

Prison Pictures at the Opera house. The management of the Opera house has secured a big feature attraction in the moving picture world in the Illinois Photoplay Co., which will be at Holland's Opera house on Saturday Jan. 28.

The big card will be the sensational Illustrated Lecture "Behind the Bars at Joliet" with Mr. Paul G. Baxter giving the lecture. "Behind the Bars at Joliet" is a thrilling illustrated recital of how 1,600 of the most desperate criminals in the world are kept in confinement, subjection and at work. Paul G. Baxter was employed at the prison for ten years and his pictures are the only ones in existence showing the interior and exterior of the Joliet Penitentiary and women's prison complete.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars case that it fails to cure. Send us ten monies.

Emmett Cooper Happy.

There is at least one man in Hopkinsville overjoyed at the success of Senator Luke Lea in Tennessee. It is his warm personal friend R. E. Cooper, whose great telephone fight in Nashville a few years ago gave Lea his first good chance to show the fighting stuff that was in him. He was then under 30 years of age but he won out in a remarkable campaign in which the Home Telephone gained its point but failed in the end by the financial collapse of its connections in other independent fields. After that Luke Lea forged to the front as a great lawyer. Mr. Cooper has all along backed him as a winner, on the ground that he was the coming statesman of Tennessee. Senator Lea has no more delighted friend anywhere than his Kentucky admirer.

Sick Him Doe.

Dr. S. H. Durgin, of the Boston Board of Health, has given the Pure Food advocates a jolt by giving an opinion that rotten eggs are not unwholesome.

"I have seen eggs broken that had a decided odor," says Dr. Durgin. "I have seen them fried and have eaten them. I will truthfully say that they didn't taste any different from an ordinary fresh egg. A rotten egg has just as much nutrient value as a fresh egg."

"Another matter is the old theory that it is unhealthy to sleep with the same clothes on you wear during the day. Nothing to it. Absolutely nothing. It is just as healthy and in many cases even healthier to sleep in the garments you wore during the day than to take chances in disrobing in a chilly room, and getting, thinly clad, into an unaired bed."

World's Finest Avenue.

What has many times been called the finest avenue in the world leads from the city of Hanover in the ancient Schloss Herrenhausen, the favorite residence of the kings and electors of Hanover, and their summer palace. It was made in 1665-78 by Ernest Augustus, elector of Hanover, who married Sophie, daughter of James II. of England, and did more than any other of the long line of sovereigns to make Hanover famous. This avenue is a mile and a half long, 360 feet wide and shaded on both sides with the grandest old lime trees you can imagine. There is a broad drive in the center and walks on either side, which are thronged with promenaders every Saturday afternoon and on Sundays and holidays.

In Italy the Feature of the Grand opera season. Another American girl has won honors in Italian grand opera, and right in the home of opera at that. She is Stella Metto of St. Louis. Her debut as Lola in "Cavalleria Rusticana" has been the feature of the season in Genoa. Signor Bovi, the noted impresario there heard her sing in Milan, while she was studying with Maestro Benigni, and obtained her promise to go to his opera-house to make her debut. As a special honor to the young woman, Bovi conducted the orchestra, and between them they made the night a gala one. Local critics were more than enthusiastic.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroad needs do to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.
